SCIENCE COMMUNICATION

I am a strong advocate of science communication and outreach and believe that it is important to encourage an interest in science and the natural world in people of all ages. I am the creator and sole curator of the Twitter-based science communication project, Biotweeps, that hosts a different biologist every week and has a current following of > 16,000. Biotweeps has also hosted two global virtual conferences featuring dozens of scientists from around the world and with audiences numbering in the millions. I have given talks to over 20 school, local interest, community and natural history groups in the UK, USA and Canada, in-person and via video calls.
